

European Culinary Tourism Conference – Call for Paper

The Institute for Tourism Management of the FH Wien University of Applied Sciences of WKW in collaboration with College of Polytechnics Jihlava organizes its first European Culinary Tourism Conference in Vienna, Austria, 3-4 March 2011. This conference is part of the European Union „Territorial Cross Border Co-operation Austria – Czech Republic 2007-2013“ and is co-financed by the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF) and will take place at FH Wien University of Applied Sciences of WKW.

The purpose of the conference is to provide scholars, practitioners and students with an opportunity to share research, ideas and practical experiences regarding culinary tourism.

A key focus of the conference will be issues concerning culinary tourism in border regions. For this conference the organizers seek papers that address this theme from a variety of perspectives. Possible topics may address, but are not limited to:

- Culinary Tourism Products: microeconomic aspects, profitability of culinary tourism products, innovation
- Culinary Tourists: Who is the typical culinary tourist? attitudes/values/preferences
- Culinary Tourism & Regions: co-operations / partnerships in (border) regions, added value, macroeconomic effects,
- Culinary Tourism & Philosophy: culinary experiences, cultural aspects, fascination of culinary tourism, passion & sensuality, history and tradition of culinary tourism

However the conference welcomes papers that address other significant advances related to culinary tourism in border regions.
